

On the Subject of British Slang

Good day dear sir. I'm absolutely spiffing today. Care for a spot of luncheon once finished with this thingamabob here?

- The module consists of four buttons on the flag, each containing a word. It also contains a definition.
- Use the guide below to find the word that matches the definition.
- Because the British are awkward sods, at each stage, you must input the answer from the previous stage. For this reason, the first correct answer is always the blank button.
- Progress through six stages to disarm the module.
